

Mahfuz Anam is the editor and publisher of Daily Star, the largest circulating English daily of Bangladesh. Though he majored in Economics, he achieved a comprehensive expertise in media planning and media development through his long career as journalist, editor and as a media expert for UNESCO. Today Anam focuses and regularly writes on governance, press freedom and all the issues that relate to human rights and development.